The post-offices at Mann and Brule, beyond Bellevue, went out of business October 31st. As a result the mail service in that section is deficient. Petitions are being circulated asking the establishment of a rural route between Bellevue and Enough. This would more than remedy the inefficiency occasioned by the discontinuing of the two offices.

There are now about forty cases of small pox on Crane Pond and adjoining vicinities. The new cases are all to families of those originally afflicted. Those who first had the contagion are convalescent and the disease is in a mild form. A quarantine is being maintained to try and prevent further spreading of the disease.

The three colored men drafted from Iron county, Ben Russell, Jesse Brown and Blow Martin, departed for the training camp last week. Ben wasn't at all enamored with the idea of "going to war," but, for all that, we believe he will prove a useful man, as he is one of the best colored boys ever reared in this community.

Under the new revenue law all deeds made after December 1st must bear fifty cents in revenue stamps for all property transferred, the value of which is between $100 and $500, and fifty cents for fractional parts of $500. This is based on the actual cash value and not the amount stated in the deed. All notes must have two cents for each $100 or fraction thereof.

Mr. S. A. Trask, the road overseer at Mann, and his father were callers Monday. Mr. Trask came to this county about the first of the year from the Lead Belt, where he lived for about fifteen years. Messrs. S. P. Ringo, W. T. Gay, Albert E. Kuhn and B. N. Brown appeared before the city council Monday night and asked that body to enact some stringent Sunday law—the desire being to close certain places of business that are open on Sunday. The matter was referred to the ordinance committee to report at the next meeting of the council in December. To the casual observer it would seem that we already have an abundance of Sunday laws.

Last Sunday afternoon at the court house was effected the organization of a branch auxiliary to the Y. M. C. A., to care for the moral and physical welfare of the soldiers in camp and at the front. Contributions ought to be immediate and liberal.

From the Piedmont Banner: "There isn't a happier boy in San Diego, California, than Thomas Newman, a former Wayne county man, and grandson of Mrs. Annie L. Blaine, of Piedmont. He is happy because he has just been given a medal for distinguished service in the first Liberty Loan campaign—he and five other boys scouts of San Diego. Better than all, the medal was presented personally by Secretary McAdoo, in an eloquent speech, praising the boys for their good and patriotic work." The lad here referred to is a son of Walter T. Newman, born and reared in Ironton, and a grandson of Mrs. Jane Newman of this city.

Mrs. George Blue and Walter Fisher, Jr., were painfully injured by being thrown from a buggy last Friday afternoon. The ladies were driving from the Blue home on the Graniteville road, north of Pilot Knob, when their horse became unmanageable, started on a run, throwing them both to the ground with great force. Mrs. Blue sustained a broken nose and bruised and lacerated face; Mrs. Fisher was badly bruised. Both will be confined to their rooms several days. This is the second experience of the kind Mrs. Fisher has had in three months. The same horse threw her out of a buggy as she was driving down the hill from Arcadia Heights during the Baptist Assembly in August.

The editor Monday afternoon had a very pleasant talk of an hour with Mr. E. H. Amelung, of Indianapolis, Indiana, who has spent a few days of the past week with his mother and other relatives at Pilot Knob. Ed. is one of the valley boys who have made good and mighty good, too. For the past five years he has been in charge of the Indianapolis office of the Prudential Life Insurance Company, with a large force of men under him and immense amount of business to look after. Within a short time he will celebrate the twentieth anniversary of his becoming associated with the Prudential. He always likes to get back to Iron county occasionally and says it is much pleasure to keep in touch with people and affairs in his old home. Mr. Amelung returned to Indianapolis Tuesday.

The De Soto Press tells of an accident which recently befell Mr. Frank S. Bayliss, the St. Louis candy salesman who formerly resided in Ironton: "An automobile owned and driven by J. M. Christ, of De Soto, accompanied by Frank S. Bayliss, of 6749 Clayton avenue, St. Louis, was struck by an engine on the crossing in the south part of De Soto, Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock and both Mr. Christ and Mr. Bayliss were seriously injured. The condition of the former is said to be critical. The automobile was coming west from the east side, where Mr. Christ had been to make a delivery of bread. The engine was one just out of the shops and was being 'broke in' by running up and down the yards. Henry Maupin, foreman of the round house, was at the throttle, and general foreman Robert Hearst was also on the engine. A box car, on the side track, it is said, obstructed a view of the approaching engine. The injured men were taken to the Y. M. C. A. emergency hospital and are being treated by Drs. Farrar and Donnell. Mr. Bayliss is a salesman for the Bartlett Candy Company of St. Louis." Mr. Bayliss died Sunday at his home in St. Louis from internal injuries received in the accident.

The valley boys were very tame in their Halloween pranks last Wednesday. There was a pretty general soaping of the windows of the stores situated on Main street, a few gates were carried from their fastenings, a sign or two removed and a few other displacements of movable objects. But there was no destruction or devastation practiced. A safe and sane observation, so to speak. A marked contrast, we infer, from the practice followed in our neighboring city of Farmington, judging from the following, taken from the last issue of the Times: "Halloween in Farmington was marked by an unusual number of pranks of a destructive and dangerous character. Whole sections of picket fences were stolen and placed in the street where cars sometimes came near striking them. Gates were also much in evidence—in the streets. Pickets were torn from fences, and movable property was carried off. A few competent spankings are needed to purify the morals of some of the youngsters who adopt this way of having fun, and if the grown-ups indulge in such childish caprices a little pants-warming would do them good, also. Sane celebrations of the night were held all about town, more generally than usual, and no doubt the 'spirits' of some folks got entirely out of bounds."

We copy from the St. Louis Times of last Wednesday the following account of the suit of Kerwin vs. Kerwin, as given by that paper's special correspondent, dated Ironton, October 31: "Several St. Louisians of prominence are parties to an interesting suit which is being reviewed and taken under advisement here in the Circuit Court, and in which a mother is suing a son for her share in a husband's estate. The defendant in the suit Dr. William Kerwin of 5973 Von Versen avenue, St. Louis, son of Mrs. Bertha Kerwin, of Arcadia. An unusual feature of the case is presented in Dr. Kerwin's case, in that his sister married B. Hunt Stromberg, son of Ben P. Stromberg, for two terms president of the St. Louis Board of Education, and in that he himself married young Stromberg's sister, Miss Myra Stromberg, at one time considered the most beautiful girl in St. Louis. John A. Kerwin, the father, died October 22, 1916, leaving the widow, Mrs. Bertha Kerwin; a son, Dr. Kerwin, and two daughters—Mrs. Hunt Stromberg, 5251 Von Versen avenue, St. Louis, and Mrs. Paul Grolms, Nashville, Tenn. The suits have been brought by Mrs. Bertha Kerwin, who is the administratrix, against the son, Dr. Wm. Kerwin, alleging that shortly before his death John A. Kerwin disposed of his entire personal estate, consisting of bonds, notes and other securities in the total sum of about $20,000, for the purpose of depriving his widow of her lawful interest in said estate, and that the son, Dr. Kerwin, was the beneficiary, with full knowledge of the alleged fraudulent purpose."

School Notes.

A number of appropriate pictures of historical and pastoral subjects have been given for the new High School building by the students. These, with the pictures brought from the old building, make the walls of the new building more home-like and most attractive.

The pupils of the seventh and eighth grades gave a very interesting program last Wednesday afternoon which was much appreciated by the audience of mothers and High School students. There were goblins and spooks and jack o' lanterns, interesting recitations and readings, and well rendered musical numbers.

The Sophomore class presented an exceptionally unique program last Friday afternoon before the students in the High School. Three cleverly enacted sketches were given that were highly entertaining. The histrionic ability of the players was exceptional.

The Freshman class will be the next to give a program. Something original is expected.

The boys' basketball team from Ellington played the Ironton team last Saturday. The score was 21 to 39 in favor of Ellington. Despite the fact that one of the Ironton team was absent, and that the Ellington boys, in size and weight, greatly surpassed the Ironton boys, the home team never gave in an inch, playing in the last half better than in the first. Robert Riggs, substituting as forward, was guilty of some remarkably fine playing, besides shooting at least six field goals.

Next Saturday the Ironton team will play Leadwood at Leadwood. Saturday, the 17th, is "Clean-Up Day." Ironton will play Fredericktown.

Des Arc News.

We are having fine weather. Farmers are busy gathering corn, which is selling readily at $1 and $1.25. Around Charleston it is worth, shelled, f. o. b. car, $1.50 for white corn. At White-water it is selling in the shock at $1.40; by the car load at $1.25. They have shipped several car loads. I heard one merchant at Morley say he had bought 40,000 bushels and put it in his warehouse. Several corn buyers are down in that section.

I was at Fredericktown. The Catholic mines are closed down. The Mine LaMotte mines are in the hands of a receiver. At Flat River there have been reduced wages, to take effect December 1st.

I met with Judge Lucy down on the Belmont Branch loading ties with a work train. Ties are still in demand. The Henderson boys, who formerly lived here, but now in Granite City, came down in a Ford to visit friends here last week.

Another one of our soldier boys—the third Wayne County boy to die of pneumonia at Camp Funston, Kansas,—died on last Monday at 4:30 o'clock P. M.: Charles M. Lovelace, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Lovelace of Brunot. He left Wayne County on October 3d, with Wayne County's second contingent for the National Army. A message announcing the sad news was received here Tuesday morning and all the surrounding community was made sad. He was one of the brightest and best young men in Wayne County. Before answering the call to the colors he was engaged in the insurance business and was teaching the home school at Brunot, and when he went away he gave up home, friends and his business cheerfully and willingly, and now he has made the supreme sacrifice and died a hero as though he had fallen on the battlefield, for he was ready to go wherever duty called—ready to follow wherever the flag might lead. He has filled a hero's grave and as such he will ever be cherished in the hearts of all his friends and associates here and in his home town. The body was brought here and the funeral conducted from the M. E. Church by Rev. J. T. Collins. He paid a beautiful tribute to the young man, having known him from childhood. Charles was 25 years of age and leaves, besides his parents, three brothers and one sister. A large attendance from Brunot, Greenville and Piedmont was here for the funeral; the crowd could not get into the church. As the casket, draped in the flag for which this brave young man died, was opened and the friends and relatives took the last look at his form, many hearts were broken and a wave of sympathy goes out to the bereaved family in the loss of a noble son. As we said of the other young man, not only has he made the great sacrifice for his country, but the parents of Charles have made theirs and in after years will feel proud of him that he has filled a hero's grave. May the Lord comfort the bereaved ones in this dark hour! The floral offerings were beautiful and the church was draped in National colors in honor of our soldier boy, and our flag hung all day at half mast.

There is quite an improvement in our town since Main street has been changed. We have a fine concrete walk now down as far as the Johnson property and store.

Judge Kane from Greenville, Sheriff York Lovelace and Wm. Carter and Jas. Banks and family, from Piedmont, were here to attend the funeral of Chas. M. Lovelace.

Mrs. W. T. Stevenson and children left Sunday for Goodland, Kansas, in answer to a message to come to the bedside of the little son of Mrs. Eva Walcott, who is not expected to recover from an attack of brain trouble, having an abscess formed on the brain. The little fellow just left here a few weeks ago with his mother who had been here on a visit, and the news came as a great shock to the relatives here. He was a fine, robust boy, the picture of health, and the parents have our deepest sympathy in this dark hour.

A. K. Wallis has charge of the store he recently bought of J. H. Stevenson. He is a wide awake young man and we hope will make a success in business. We can say for his predecessor, J. H. Stevenson, that we always found him accommodating in business and an honest and all round fine business man. We are sorry to see him go out of business. But he had other matters to look after which keeps him busy, and therefore he did not have the time to put into the store and run his farm and other property he has to look after.

Miss Martha Kelly came down last week from St. Louis to visit her parents for a few days.

Dr. N. A. Farr and wife left Friday, the former to visit his daughter, Mrs. E. W. Fitz, who is in St. Luke's Hospital recovering from a surgical operation for appendicitis. The latter will attend the State W. C. T. U. Convention which meets at Warrensburg this week, having been sent as a delegate from this Union. She will also visit relatives at Flat River and St. Louis before her return home. Mrs. R. H. Stevenson is also attending the W. C. T. U. Convention as a delegate this week and visiting her sons at East Alton, Ills.

Wray Daniels, son of Luther Daniels, is seriously ill at his home here of a relapse of typhoid fever. He was getting along nicely, but anxious to get out he rode to the funeral horseback a few weeks ago when our first soldier boy was buried, and since then has been very sick. He is a good boy and we hope the Lord will spare him to regain his health. He is such a comfort to his parents and special prayers were offered in his behalf at the services held at the Baptist church Sunday night. Also for the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Walcott in Goodland, Kansas.

E. W. Fitz and little daughter, Maxine, spent Sunday in St. Louis with Mrs. E. W. Fitz at St. Luke's Hospital. She is recovering nicely and will get home in about two weeks. Mrs. M. E. Maddock received a letter from her son, James, in France. He is well and getting along fine. Mrs. John Reed also received letters from her boys last week.

Rev. Patterson filed his regular appointment here last Saturday night and Sunday at the Baptist church.

Annapolis News.

We have had fine weather the past week. Sunday night, October 28th, we had an electrical storm with wind and rain. Fencing was blown down for several Annapolis people. Squire Kitchell and family were out in the rain next morning putting up about forty yards of their fence that was blown down. They all got wet and most of them have been in bed ever since sick with cold and grip.

Mr. James Brewer died quite suddenly at his home on Hyatt's Creek, in Reynolds county, eight miles west of Annapolis, Friday morning, November 2, 1917. Mr. Brewer was just recovering from an attack of pneumonia fever. (The night before he took a dose of medicine—got the wrong medicine—and it cramped him to death. Deceased was about forty-five years of age and leaves four sons and a daughter to mourn the loss of a good father, his wife having preceded him across the river five years ago. He was laid to rest by the side of his wife in the Hyatt Creek cemetery, near his home.

James E. Reed, who has been on the sick list, is able to be up again. Ed Moss will accompany John W. Alcorn to his saw mill at Ruble, in Reynolds county, to-day, to make repairs on some of the machinery.

James Slusher is gathering his corn in the field south of town. It is turning out fine.

Squire Kitchell was called down to Rev. Alcorn's last Saturday to execute some papers. The parson is about to sell out at a good price.

The boys of Annapolis and hereby abouts who made themselves busy Halloween destroying property, carrying off wheel barrows, breaking up tiling, tearing up wagons and committing other depredations, are fast getting themselves in a hole. The offenders' names are all on file with the Justice of the Peace. Unless all property is replaced or damage made good before next Monday, November 12th, something will happen.

Corn, $1 a bushel; potatoes, $1.25. Not much selling at that.

There are said to be plenty of squirrels in the woods, but no deer or turkey.

John R. Harris was uneasy about his IRON COUNTY REGISTER last Wednesday morning and employed the Squire of Annapolis to write Bro. Ake to forward his paper to Annapolis, but when he went to the post-office at 2 o'clock his paper was there. The old Squire was a little afraid to write the card for fear it might be construed in to a violation of the Iron county local option law.

Jesse Cook and his father, John Cook, of Mill Springs, have moved to the farm that they purchased last June, known as the Worley lands, five miles east of Annapolis. The Deboards are in possession of the land, under a lease from Wm. S. Worley to Enoch Deboard made in 1907.
